

BATH EXCEEDS QUOTA IN JEWISH WAR DRIVE

At the meeting of the Jewish war relief and welfare committee Monday night it was reported that $5,100 had been collected in Bath during the campaign of the past two weeks. While Bath has gone over the top in exceeding its quota, the state as a whole has not come up to its quota of $100,000 and a telegram from Eli Adelman, the state secretary, has asked that the campaign be continued through the week in an effort to meet the deficit.

Another meeting of the committee takes place next Sunday night when Louis Kirstein of Bangor, treasurer of the state committee, and Eli Adelman, also of Bangor, the state secretary, will be present and the final report of the local committee will be made. A vote of thanks was extended the local committee for the efficient service rendered during this campaign and these officers were re-elected:

Chairman, Harry Cohen; secretary, Jacob Feldman; treasurer, Isaac Mikelsky; auditor, Sam Sas.
