From the desk of Rabbi Asch

“But Rabbi what should I do about that issue of Jewish law?” is not a question I hear often. While I have discussions with people about their practice, they rarely ask me to make a decision for them. When it comes to issues of Jewish law, Reform rabbis do not wield sole authority. As stated in the Central Conference of American Rabbis Responsa, “Each Reform rabbi functions, in his or her congregational community, as the mara d’atra, the local religious authority. This status, to be sure, does not grant the rabbi autocratic power to decide questions of religious practice. In our movement these are resolved cooperatively between the rabbi and the congregation. Yet, within the cooperative model the rabbi enjoys a certain sphere of authority over issue of practice.” (NYP No. 5761.3)

I have been inspired by this responsa and the call by Dr. Mark Washofsky (head of the Responsa Committee) for Reform communities to decide together on many matters of Jewish law. I can provide traditional texts for us to study, ask questions, and answer them, but in many cases it is up to the community to decide issues of practice. We tried this in our discussion during Yom Kippur afternoon. We studied texts related to the prohibition of saying Aveinu Malkeinu on Shabbat, a practice which we, as a community, have followed. After studying the texts and looking at the reasons for this prohibition, the 50 or so people there decided that we should still sing the melody, but not say the words. This was a way to honor the tradition of not petitioning on Shabbat while still keeping the power of the familiar melody.

I am pleased that we will have our second conversation about ritual practice in the coming month. The conversation will be about having kitniyot in the Temple on Passover. Kitniyot include legumes (peas and beans) and rice, and they are traditionally prohibited during Passover. However, the Reform and Conservative movements now permit eating these foods during Passover. Please join us for one of two conversations where we will look at traditional and modern sources about this prohibition and make a communal decision. If you have strong feelings about this issue or you want to help set our Temple policy, please plan on attending. One session will take place on Saturday, March 24th at 10:30am (during Torah study). The other will be on Monday, March 26th at noon. Feel free to bring your lunch.

We will have another conversation sometime before Rosh Hashanah about if we should require people to wear a tallit on the bimah. I hope that the process of learning from traditional sources, discussing as a community, and reaching a decision together will help us be more mindful of how we act in areas of Jewish law and model what a decision-making process can look like for us individually. Please join us for these conversations.

Your Rabbi in Action!

Rabbi Asch is from southern California. Winter is hard for someone who grew up with 11.75 months of sunshine and 70 degrees. She makes up for it by filling the winter months with people-filled activities, such as:

- celebrating Purim as many times as possible
- taking the Temple teens to lobby in D.C.
- hiking in the woods for Shabbat in the Wild
- sharing Tot Havdallah with the littlest Jews in town
- praying for our state legislators
- and, of course, going back to San Diego for a little reprieve from the snow and ice!

What's Happening at TBE

Party Time at TBE — Todah Rabbah, Everyone!

When it gets frigid outside, we heat things up at TBE. This winter, we celebrated our 20th Annual Ice Storm Wine Tasting, as well as a fun Tu B'Shevat seder and multiple Purim parties, including a rollicking (sometimes raunchy!) spiel at The Maine House in Hallowell. Thank you to Matthew Rolnick and The Maine House for organizing!

Thank you to our amazing crew which made the Wine Tasting possible. The fabulous committee: Deb Sewall, Syd Sewall, Nancy Kelly, Emily Bessey, Peter Rosenberg and Suzanne Rosenberg. Fran Rudoff for organizing the auction and many of you donated items. Chuck Cohen organized the program booklet. We loved the music of amazing band of Ethan Bessey and his friends--they even got us up and dancing! The Learning English Through Cooking class provided wonderful food. Nan Salvino took care of RSVP's, money, and making sure the kitchen was stocked. What a success!

Lunch with Nathan Bennett from the Religious Action Center of Reform Judaism

Thursday, March 8th, 12pm—1pm

Join Senior Legislative Assistant, Nathan Bennett as he talks about the work of the Religious Action Center, social justice in the Reform Movement and how we can make a difference nationally.

Bring your lunch — we'll provide drinks and desserts.

TBE Book Club
Wednesday, March 21
6:30pm @ TBE

We will be discussing A Horse Walks into a Bar by David Grossman. This hilarious book won the 2017 National Jewish Book Award for Fiction. We chose a book for May — Lioness: Golda Meir and the Nation of Israel, by Francine Klagsbrun. This book won the 2017 National Jewish Book Award for Jewish Book of the Year. The date for the meeting in May will be determined later. Come join the discussion. It is open to all. Email Nan to RSVP: bethelaugusta@gmail.com.

Beth El in Action Meets with School Boards

Beth El in Action has been meeting with local school boards to ask them to adopt a policy respecting religious differences. We have had successful meetings in Hall-Dale and Winthrop and are meeting with other school boards in the months to come. If you would like to get involved with Beth El in Action, please contact Rabbi Asch.

Pesach is coming! Spring is almost here!

TBE Community Decision Making: Should we eat kitniyot on Passover?

Temple Beth El has historically prohibited kitniyot (legumes and rice) to be in our kitchen at Passover. However, the Reform and Conservative movements both permit eating kitniyot during the holiday. Come to one of two conversations where we will study biblical and rabbinic texts about this prohibition and make our own community decision about what we want to have (and not have) at the Temple during Passover.

Saturday, March 24th 10:30am (during Torah study)

Monday, March 26th 12-1pm. Bring a lunch.

Passover Community Seder Saturday, March 31st, 5:30pm

Come celebrate Passover at Temple Beth El on Saturday, March 31st. Please arrive by 5:30pm — the seder will start promptly at 5:45pm. All ages are welcome! Be on the lookout for more information and sign-up

Passover Presentation with J. Collins

Sunday, March 25th, 10:30am

Join us Sunday, March 25th from 10:30-11:00 for a Passover Preparation Presentation led by J. Collins. People are encouraged to stay from 11:30-noon for a special Passover themed circle time with the Hebrew school.

Celebrate the end of Passover with TBE

Saturday, April 7th, 9:00am

- 9:00am: Tot Shabbat
- 10:00am: Matzo Brei brunch
Please bring a side dish to share
- 10:45am: Passover service with Yizkor

Shalom from the Library!

What's Happening at TBE

Temple Teens Take Washington by Storm

This past month the teens of Temple Beth El traveled to Washington, D.C., with Rabbi Asch as a part of the Religious Action Center's L'Taken program. The students learned about issues facing our country and visited Capitol Hill to lobby our senators. In a meeting with Senator Collins, the teens shared their feelings about topics such as immigration, health care, and reproductive rights.

Keeping Kosher with the French Grandkids

By Chris Zinck

Thea and I flew to France a few days after the tragic massacre in Las Vegas. We were going to a country that lost 40,000 of its Jewish population in the last twelve years (out of 500,000), a country where soldiers guard synagogues and study houses. We were coming from the USA where one person could kill more than 50 people and hurt more than 500. All that sounds slightly depressing, but we were going to see our new grand-child Ezekiel. So, we forgot all negativity to celebrate the new life awaiting us.

Going from Augusta to Créteil, a Paris suburb, was a huge change of scenery and culture. Augusta has a population of 19,000, one synagogue, and is on the fringes of American Jewish life. Créteil has a population of 91,000, eleven synagogues and is one of the centers of Jewish presence in France. Upon our arrival, we had to adapt to an orthodox lifestyle. I was afraid to touch anything in the kitchen. There were three different sponges, two sets of flatware, dairy pots, meat pots, and pareve items all in one small kitchen. G-d forbid one should touch the other. After convincing our children that we could learn and work in a 'Cachère' (Kosher) kitchen, we were permitted to help out. After one week we graduated to 'Sépharade Kashrut.' I had a simple graduation, Thea graduated with honors.

Finding Kosher food in Créteil is much easier than in Augusta. We had a 'Cachère' bakery, a 'Cachère' butcher, and a 'Cachère' grocery store in the small shopping center next door. I would get up early and bring back a 'Cachère' baguette and 'Cachère' croissants for breakfast from the bakery downstairs. Several 'Cachère' restaurants were around the corner.

Too soon it was time to leave just as I was getting used to our new 'Cachère' environment. We left on a Sunday morning so naturally we had to start the packing before sunset Friday and finish (the packing) after sunset Saturday. It was the best of times. We are looking forward to our next visit.

The 16th Annual Shabbat in the Wild featured singing, chanting, hiking, and eating. The woods wore their winter finest. A big "Todah Rabbah" to Susan Bakaley Marshall and Chris Marshall for hosting and to all the chefs who prepared the wonderful food.

Murder, Mitzvot, Wonder Woman. . . Hebrew School has it all!

In Amy's Judaica class we have continued to learn about important Jewish figures through their mitzvot. Together, we have learned about the mitzvot of Talmud Torah, K'lal Yisrael, Tzionut, Tikkun Olam, Ometz Lev, and Herut by studying the actions of people like Sandy Kofax, Golda Meir, and Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel.

Bria's class has been exploring the mitzvot of g'milut chasadim (personal acts of loving-kindness) and tzedakah, as well as derech erez (here defined as respectful, polite behavior), and the Torah teaching of "Love your fellow as yourself" (Leviticus 19:18). We've learned that when we show patience, take turns, and include others, we are not only doing good things, we are doing Jewish things. These are all acts of g'milut chasadim, and when we do them we become Jewish heroes and make our world a better place. Class discussions around the question, "What does a Jewish hero (gibor/gibora) do?" have been quite animated! We even discussed our favorite superheroes (Jewish and non): Captain Underpants, Dog Man, Black Panther, and Wonder Woman (and many more!).

Since December, Rich's class has been studying in-depth Genesis Chapters 1 through 5, the story of Adam and Eve, Eden, and Cain and Able. We have explored the themes of love, knowledge, disobedience, punishment, family, murder, and responsibility to others, while questioning how the treatment of these themes is relevant to our lives today. We have paid particularly close attention to these statements:

- a) "it is not good for man (a person) to be alone..."
- b) "but God knows that as soon as you eat of it your eyes will be opened and you will be like divine beings who know good and bad"
- c) "And the Lord said to Cain, Why are you distressed, And why is your face fallen. Surely, if you do right, there is uplift. But if you do not do right, sin couches at the door. Its urge is toward you. Yet you can be its master."
- d) "Am I my brother's (society's) keeper?"

In All School Time, the music group has been learning several new songs including Halleli by Noam Katz and Hava Nashira by Josh Nelson. Not only are these songs fun to sing, but they also relate to the Jewish value of gratitude: Hoda'ah!
