

The Bet Ha'am Weekly Email

Words of Torah from Rabbi Saks

Commentary on the death of Aaron's sons, Nadav and Abihu, in this week's Torah portion, Sh'mini, often leave me feeling unfulfilled. The text tells us that Nadav and Abihu, priests in their own right, sons of the High Priest, Aaron, offered alien fire, not commanded by God, on the altar. Their act results in their sudden death, being struck down with fire from heaven by God. The Torah tells us that after their death, their father Aaron falls silent. The rabbis wrestle with the character of these two men and their father's reaction.

Four times, Torah mentions the deaths of Nadav and Abihu and each time mentions the strange fire they offered, but makes no other judgment on their character. It seems that aside from this one misstep, the two are considered righteous. Moses attempts to comfort his brother by indicating that God has said, "Through those near to Me I show Myself holy, and gain glory before all the people" (Lev. 10:3). In one midrash (rabbinic legend), Moses offers comfort to his brother by telling him that it was specifically through his sons' death that the Mishkan, the portable wilderness sanctuary was made holy, not unlike the relics of saints in the Catholic tradition that add to the holiness of particular places. Some commentators say that when Aaron falls silent, it is his acceptance of the divine decree. For me, this interpretation is hardly satisfactory. How could Aaron be comforted by knowing that the Mishkan was holier because of his sons' deaths? That interpretation fits well with the philosophy that everything happens for a reason, a philosophy that has rarely worked for me.

There are many things that befall us that seem to be without reason, whose higher purpose I cannot find. Instead, it seems to me that Aaron is dumbfounded by the death of his sons. He is incapable of offering any response, which is why he falls silent. He does not accept what has happened; he simply cannot muster words to react to it. Rabbi Harold Kushner, author of When Bad Things Happen to Good People, guides us by saying that we cannot answer the question of why bad things happen to good people, but we can ask ourselves, "What do I do when bad things happen to good people?" The challenge before Aaron – and before us – is to figure out how to move forward, even when the world seems unjust and unfair. It is in our response to the situation that we might find comfort and might find God.

Seated Shalom Yoga with Ashley

Saturday, April 17, 10:30 AM

Seated Shalom Yoga with Ashley Flowers

NOTE: This program will take the place of Bet Ha'am's regularly scheduled Saturday morning worship service.

Join yoga teacher and Bet Ha'am member, Ashley Flowers, for a morning of gentle chair yoga in place of our regularly scheduled worship. Through gentle stretching, and breathing we will explore how we can use the foundation of our body to connect to the beauty of Torah.

The 19th century Chassidic Rebbe Sfat Emet teaches that everything in the human form hints to divine inner worlds and that the physical body is the doorway to spiritual realities. With Torah study and yoga practice we open the doorways of our body, mind, heart, and soul to ever-deepening inner worlds.

No experience with yoga required. Set yourself up at home with a chair (ideally with no arms) and comfortable clothes you can move in. Use your regular Zoom link for April Saturday morning worship to access class. If you have not already registered to receive the April links, please see the box near the top of this email for instructions on how to register. To read more about Ashley and her philosophy on yoga visit <https://www.ashleyflowersyoga.com/about/>

Racial Justice Program

Thursday, April 22, 7:00 PM

Justice In Our Backyard: A conversation with DeRay Mckesson

Join us for a very special evening of racial justice learning. Activist, educator, and author DeRay Mckesson will share his journey from middle school math teacher to acclaimed civil rights leader and social justice advocate. DeRay will also talk about the transformational work he is doing with his organization, Campaign Zero.

Campaign Zero is a project of the non-profit 501(c)(3) organization, WeTheProtesters. Campaign Zero supports the analysis of policing practices across the country, research to identify effective solutions to end police violence, technical assistance to organizers leading police accountability campaigns and the development of model legislation and advocacy to end police violence nationwide.

Read more about DeRay McKesson here.

Space is limited for this program. Registration closes on April 21 at 12:00 noon. Zoom links will be sent by 4:30 PM on Wednesday, April 21.

Solar Energy Fundraiser

Support Local Maine Solar, Lower Your CMP Bill and Raise Money for Bet Ha'am

Bet Ha'am was recently contacted about a new fundraising initiative involving congregants who may be interested in community solar. PowerMarket is an operator of multiple community solar energy farms on the east coast including one located in Baldwin, Maine that is currently looking for "subscribers." Subscribers are self-designated CMP customers who wish to buy a portion of their electricity from a community solar farm. The electricity is sold at a discount and produced with a lower carbon footprint.

The initiative presented provides that PowerMarket and Darrell Cooper of Energy Audits Ltd. will donate $150 to Bet Ha'am for each subscriber who signs up using the promo code "Bet Ha'am." There is no upfront cost to sign up, subscribers typically save about 10% on their CMP bill, and they can cancel at any time on 60 days' notice.

You can obtain more information, and if interested become a subscriber through the PowerMarket/Baldwin Community Solar project website at: <https://account.powermarket.io/bethaam.html>.

If you have questions about the donation to Bet Ha'am, please contact Mark Stone at lmstone@lmstone.com

Ongoing Programs

Shabbat Candle Lighting

Please consider signing up to be a candle lighter at an upcoming Zoom Friday night service. ## National Council of Jewish Women, Southern Maine Section Scholarship Program

Deadline is Friday, April 16

The Southern Maine section of the National Council of Jewish Women (NCJW) awards college scholarships to young Jewish men and women from Maine. Scholarships are awarded to high school seniors and undergraduate college students primarily on the basis of financial need with consideration for academic achievement and Jewish as well as general community involvement. In addition to need-based awards the Selma Gleit Memorial Scholarship for Women in STEM is presented to a Jewish female high school senior or college student who has demonstrated excellence and commitment in science, technology, engineering and/or math, without consideration of need.

Visit www.ncjwmaine.org to complete applications online or to download copies. Look under the "what we do" "local" "community service" tabs. High school guidance offices and synagogues have NCJW scholarship applications available as well. Complete applications and supporting documents must be received by Friday, April 16, 2021. Please contact Susan Gladstein, Scholarship Chair, at 954-559-0221 or sgladstein23@gmail.com if you have any questions or need an application.

Maine Jewish Museum Virtual Art Auction 2021 Preview Starts: Sunday, April 18, 2021 Auction Bidding Opens: April 25th until May 9, 2021

Please join us for The Maine Jewish Museum's first ever online art auction generously curated by the founders of Barridoff Galleries, Annette and Rob Elowitz. Rob and Annette are back and better than ever and have gathered a varied and exciting roster of many of Maine's finest artists. Proceeds from the MJM Art Auction will help financially support the museum's mission of celebrating and honoring the contributions and diversity of Maine's Jewish community. Through exhibits, programming, and dialogue the Museum seeks to build bridges of appreciation and understanding with people of all backgrounds. We are tremendously excited to have reopened the Museum after the fire last May forced us to close for 9 full months while the building was entirely restored from top to bottom. While we are still limited by COVID-19 regarding the number of people that can visit us in person, through this MJM Art Auction, we can reach all of you virtually.
