

Dear Friends,

Although the 2019 MJFF is many months away (March 9-17, 2019), we've already begun work on the challenging task of selecting our films. Our Screening Committee Chair, Melinda Molin and I are in the process now of seeking out the films for consideration. There is a world of wonderful films out there and we have no doubt we will continue the tradition that makes the Festival one of Maine's premier cultural events. If you have a suggestion for a film to consider, please don't hesitate to contact us.

In the meantime, we're also working on events that will take place this Fall. We're delighted to announce that on December 2nd we will be screening David Bromberg: Unsung Treasure at the Portland Museum of Art. David Bromberg will attend and perform after the screening. Stay tuned for more info.

Finally, The Annual Conference for Maine Jewish Life will take place this weekend, June 8 - 10 in Waterville. I'm very excited to be representing the MJFF with a program titled "Enrich, Educate, Entertain: Why Watch Films with Jewish Content?" Visit the Center for Jewish Life at Colby College for complete details about the conference.
