

We often receive feedback at MJFF, expressing thanks for the variety of international films we present. This Festival is no different. We have chosen films that will give you insight into other countries and cultures and introduce you to unforgettable personalities. We hope you will join us as MJFF brings the world into your living room.

In Your Eyes I See My Country

A yearning to discover their cultural heritage, leads Jerusalem musicians Neta Elkayam and Amit Hai Cohen to travel through Morocco. Enchanting musical performances add to an illuminating and entertaining journey. The director, Kamal Hachkar, joins MJFF on Sunday, November 14 at 2 PM.

'Bridging Time, Distance and Distrust, With Music' *N.Y. Times*

Neighbors

Inspired by the director's personal experiences, this tender, and at times devastating, coming-of-age epic is set in 1980's Syria. Through the eyes of Sero, an adorable 6 year old, we see how his own family is tragically affected by conflict, as he struggles to understand the lessons being taught while his future hangs in the balance.

200 Meters

In 200 Meters, you'll see daily lives in the occupied West Bank, and the hurdles faced by families separated by a physical and political dividing line. Part family drama, part road movie, the film — which was awarded the audience prize at the Venice Film Festival — shows how one man's story can illuminate a collective experience. 'Combines warmth, heartbreak, and adventure in its insightful portrayal of a world'.
