Using a humble, obsolete, construction material: homosote, which is made of compressed, recycled paper is how the substrate was created for these pieces. One might mistakenly refer to this shaped work as organic but there is nothing in the natural world that resembles these. It is the hope of the Artist that the rough nature of this work will find an appeal. They may be seen as immediate in execution, but believe it or not they are well thought out beforehand. The Artist has followed the tried and true path of conferred Art degrees but,
