

We have an action packed weekend coming! Whether you are interested in spiritual things, community, or social action- we've got it. Come to one or all events!

We start on Friday evening (11/17) at 7 p.m., as we welcome Shabbat. Rav Bryan Mann will lead us in worship. Services will be followed by a potluck dessert oneg.

Saturday (11/18) at 10 a.m., worship continues, led by Rav Bryan. Our service includes a baby naming, which is a special treat. Thank you to Shelley Kushner for sponsoring the lunch oneg in honor of her new granddaughter. Come wish the family Mazel Tov.

Sunday morning (11/19) from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. is our first annual Mitzvah Day. There will be a lot of hands-on activities as well as representatives from several Midcoast organizations speaking about helping people in our community. So bring the family and make aromatherapy heating pads for senior citizens, or a 'Welcome home' kit for Hospitality House. Bake something for the bake sale to benefit the Jewish Community Alliance of Southern Maine, or come buy baked goods (or both). More details are on our FaceBook page, or contact our Hebrew School teacher, Elizabeth Siegel at lizziebenozer@gmail.com

Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. is the annual Thanksgiving Interfaith Service (poster attached). Join people of all faiths at St. Thomas Episcopal Church in Camden for a moving sharing of prayer. It is always a beautiful service.

We are looking forward to seeing you this weekend.
