

Please join us on Saturday, March 17 at 10 a.m. for Shabbat services with Cantor Daniel Leeman of Bath. All are welcome!

Following a traditional Shabbat-morning service, there will be a lunch oneg sponsored by Stuart Finkelstein and Jane Funk. After lunch, Cantor Leeman will lead a discussion on Current Developments in the Conservative Movement.

Cantor Leeman has worked for the past 15 years in Bath as a Jewish educator and religious school coordinator. He has served as the Bowdoin College Hillels professional adviser, and as a volunteer chaplain at the Midcoast Hospital and Health Services division. In addition to leading High Holiday, Sabbath, and holiday services at Beth Israel in Bath, he attended meetings of the Brunswick Area Interfaith Council, and helped coordinate, with local clergy, a Catholic-Jewish dialogue program sponsored by Boston College and the St. Charles Borromeo Church in Brunswick. Since 2015, he has been officiating at Jewish life-cycle events, teaching private students, and playing the cello professionally.
