Live-Stream Kabbalat Shabbat, Music, Torah Study, and Middle Eastern Food at the Fall Shabbaton

When we say it's been too long, you know we are not exaggerating, which makes it all the more gratifying for us to imagine you joining us for a live-stream Kabbalat Shabbat service and in-person music and Torah study Oct. 29-30 at the Fall Shabbaton.

Elana Arian will bring her incredible voice and energy to Maine for two days of music, song, and stories. Saturday's programs at Beth El in Augusta include a live concert with Elana, Torah study with our rabbinical fellows, and falafel prepared by our friends from the Capital Area New Mainers Project! Registration for in-person programming is limited, so if you plan to be there, be sure to sign up to reserve your space. Beth El programming is open to those who are vaccinated. Masks are required.

For the full schedule, Covid protocols for the in-person events, and to register, click on the button below. We hope to see you soon!
